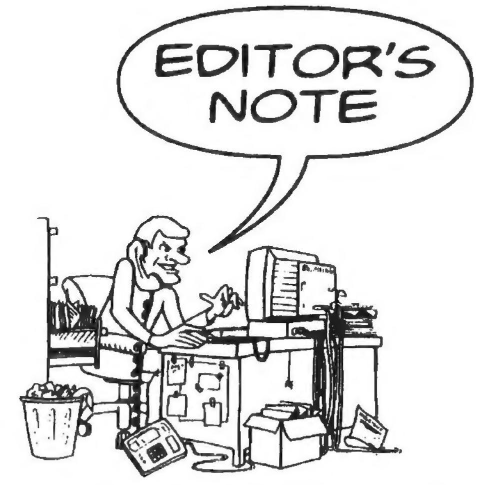
MAKE MONEY SELLING COMICS SOURCE
This magazine is available from major direct distributors such as Capital City, Diamond and Heroes World. If you are unable to get this magazine from your distributor, contact Comics Source, 2401 Broad Street, Chattanooga, TN 37408. (615) 265-5515



Things have been buzzing around here since last issue, let me tell you. Wade Sain and I are just putting the finishing touches on the 1995 Wizard Comic Book Price Guide Annual (due out at your favorite store in time for Christmas). Looking it over, I must say that it really is a good product. It's the first comic book price guide that is fully database-driven. The flexibility of data manipulation is the huge advantage. Want to know how may comics are worth $1000 or more? Boom—press a few buttons and the computer gives you an alphabetical list. Want a price guide of every comic book that Marvel has ever published? Piece of cake.

We designed the database where this information resides back in 1986, with my friend and certified mathematics genius Joe Gallagher (he's a PHD in math from MIT!). We designed a data management system for collectibles that can be applied to any collectibles field. Using activity in the marketplace, it can compute the average, the trend, the standard deviation, the median, the boolean curve, or any of a number of other mathematical functions, all of which help determine a viable market price for any given book. Its first implementation was in the ACEX auctions that we used to do, then the Paperback Price Guide that Random House published for me back in '91, then the Movie Poster Price Guide that we publish every year, then both magazines (Comics Source and Collecting Hollywood) and their unique marketplace format, then TickerTape, and now a full-blown Comic Book Price Guide to be published by Wizard Press. It's been a long road, but it's finally starting to pay off—and getting very interesting at the same time.

Since this data management system is applicable to any collectibles field, we are looking for other books to publish. If you are an expert in some collectibles market and think a new kind of price guide for your field is needed, send us a letter.

The marketplace in this issue is our best ever, over $1,000,000.00 worth of rare comics for sale from some of the top dealers in America. We want to welcome all of our new listers, like Showcase New England, Jef Hinds, Executive Investments, SMRC, and all the others. And I'd like to encourage you collectors out there to give these guys a try, I'm sure you'll be happy with their selection, grading, and service.

As Comics Source grows and evolves, we are pleased to see it becoming what we had hoped, the premiere marketplace for buying and selling rare comics. Thanks to everyone who has helped Comics Source prosper during a time in the comics market when many magazines have failed.

Jon R. Warren

DC Grey?

Let me congratulate you on a fine publication. As a collector who's just gotten back into the hobby, I find it an invaluable source of information on where to get those hard-to-find comics as well as what the going rate is for them. Since my primary interest in comics lies in the silver-age material (with all those glitzy new titles out there nowadays, I still go back to what I read as a kid) I find the Silver & Gold column particularly entertaining.

Which leads to a question I have for the folks at Comics Source as well as the general public. I recently ran across a nice Our Army At War #71. Overstreet flags this particular issue as having a grey-tone cover. Digging a little bit, I've noticed a grey-tone cover mentioned on issues of Challengers Of The Unknown, Brave And The Bold, Mystery In Space, Sea Devils, and Showcase. What is the significance of this particular type cover? Is there any pattern to these covers or was it just a neat fad. I'd appreciate any insight into this subject.

Thanks again for a great magazine and keep up the good work.

Mike Drinkard
Meridianville, AL

Thanks for the kudos, Mike. We love ego strokes around here.

As to your question about grey-tone covers, let me defer to our DC-collecting readers. My guess is that it is another interesting part of silver-age DC publishing history, where for a short time, they printed a few unusual grey covers on several comics, sort of like the curious interest in DC gorilla covers and dinosaur covers. But, again, let me invite our DC collectors to write in and explain the interest in DC grey-tone covers.

The Fat Lady Has Sung

Willikers. So the general readership isn't interested in incisive, indepth articles about comics of the forties and sixties?

"Now what, Captain Sparky?"

"Well, Wilburforce, I guess we'll have to regroup, fall back and rethink our marketing strategy. Our best bet is running the problem through our Ronco Demographic Analyzer and Target Audience Indicator. Then we can fine-tune our editorial content. Ah, here's the answer now...it says, 'Target The Intelligent Twelve-Year-Old!'"

"Wow, Captain Sparky, you mean —go after the same marketshare as Wizard*?"*

"Well, that's what the Demographic Analyzer seems to indicate. More color, more glitz, more MTV-like graphics and, above all else, an editorial staff that's fluent in Teenspeak."

"Teenspeak, Captain Sparky?"

"There are few things more embarrassing than a bunch of middle-aged guys trying to pretend they're teenagers. But, since we're working in the print media, all we have to do is sprinkle in a lot of 'way cools' and 'far out, dudes' and —who'd be the wiser?"

"Holy increased marketshare, Captain Sparky! Do you think it will really work?"

"Sure, son. All we have to do is sit through about fifteen episodes of Teen-Age Mutant Ninja Turtles and we'll have the syntax nailed."

...Well, let's see... what else was of interest in Comics Source 13? Uhhh, is it just me, or are we having a problem in semantics here? I'm referring to the year the Golden Age ended. To me, the end of something means, like... curtains... finito... that's all she wrote... the fat lady has definitely sung. And, trust me on this, insofar as the Golden Age of comics is concerned, the fat lady sang in 1948; in 1945 the fat lady didn't do anything. What happened in 1948 was an across-the-board purge of the costume heroes. It wasn't like Crisis On Infinite Earths, imaginary; it wasn't a matter of killing off a bunch of characters one issue and bringing 'em back the next. It was Crisis On Infinite Earths for real.

There's a very simple way of proving this and it can be done in the privacy of one's own home. Pick any comics reference work and look up any ten or twenty (or forty or fifty) golden age titles of which you're particularly fond and check to see when the title was terminated (that is, ended. Cancelled. Dropped. Replaced.)

My own research turned up only one (count 'em, one) well-remembered golden age hero who bowed out of the genre around the end of World War II. That was MLJ's Black Hood, but my uncanny powers of insight and deduction tell me that the decision to retire this character had less to do with the cessation of the hostilities in Europe and more to do with marketing realities at home. Try as they might, MLJ could not come up with a costumed crime-fighter who captured the public's imagination the way Fox had with Blue Beetle or Fawcett had with Captain Marvel. They finally faced up to the fact that the road to fame and fortune did not lie with costumed heroes. Rather, their best bet was the unlikely candidate for stardom named Archie Andrews.

The business of the G. I.s returning home doesn't hold up under analysis. Conventional wisdom has it that there was a lot of dislocation in the American economy because of the returning G. I.s. The truth of the matter was that there were millions of men in uniform and it took, like, years to demobilize all of them. Indeed, occupation forces were left behind in both Germany and Japan just to make sure that the vanquished enemy stayed that way.

So, it wasn't a matter of General Eisenhower clapping his hands and saying, "That's it, war's over. Everybody go home." and within twenty-four hours all those dogfaces and swabbies were discharged and back in their hometowns, acting as if nothing had happened.

The only immediate effect that V-E Day had on the comics industry was positive. The end of the war in Europe meant no more rationing of strategic materials like newsprint and ink. Once the allocations were lifted, the publishers of comics could use as much as they liked. And thus the stage was set for the comics glut and ensuing collapse in 1948. My own theory is that the demise of the costumed hero was because of superflous product, not because a significant share of the buying public suddenly changed their reading habits (altho I'm certainly open to argument on this)..

And, by the way, if anyone out there needs any prompting on which lead characters were axed in '48 and '49, you could start by looking up All-Flash, Black Terror, Green Lantern, Sub-Mariner, Human Torch, Captain America, and The Fighting Yank. And check out what happened to Sensation and Leading Comics.

Sorry, Captain Sparky, but your Ronco thingamajig must be on the fritz. We don't want to compete with Wizard. We don't even want to be mistakenly viewed by anyone as trying to compete with Wizard. And you're right, there's nothing more embarrassing than middle-aged men trying to act like they're young again (witness that silly photo of Overstreet as The Hulk a few issues back in the Overstreet Monthly, and also witness Overstreet's new dyed-black hair. Gimme a break, puhleeze!)

Nope, what we want to do, and do better than anyone else, is to provide a marketplace for collectors of vintage comic books; a place for dealers and collectors to buy and sell; a magazine that provides information about the market in a way that no other magazine does, or can do. If we fulfill that mission, I think we will provide a tremendously valuable service to the hobby.

Q: Where would you go if you wanted access to an incredible selection of hard-to-find vintage comic books for sale?

A: You're already here!

A Gathering of Heroes

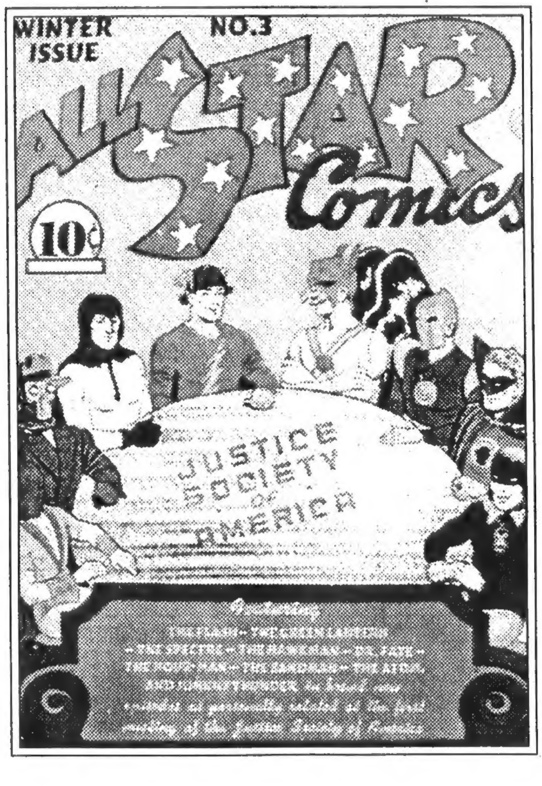
By James Cangialosi

Before the X-Men, the Fantastic Four, Justice League and all the other super teams, there was the Justice Society of America. The Justice Society was the first super team ever created in comics, and its creation caused an impact which can be seen in the industry even today. The basis of the team's creation was to unite a group of characters that would join forces in order to attain a certain goal. The team's creators used this concept as a way of promoting truth and justice, and by doing this, developed an idea which has been copied and improved on throughout the history of comics. The idea of grown men and women running around in gaudy costumes and wielding fantastic powers is science fiction in its purest form, and the messages that writers and artists were able to instill on the readership through these characters were nothing less than astounding. Bringing characters together as a single unit helped magnify the underlying messages of the stories. The creation of the Justice Society of America let the genie out of the bottle, and thankfully it has never been put back.

The Justice Society of America made its debut in All-Star Comics #3 (1940) published by National Periodicals (now known as D.C. Comics) and continued to appear in that book until the title's cancellation with issue #57. The team's original members were the Atom, Dr. Fate, Flash, Green Lantern, Hawkman, Hourman, Sandman and the Spectre. As the series progressed the cast of characters in the Justice Society continued to change. Golden age heroes who eventually appeared with the team were Batman, Black Canary, Dr. Mid-Nite, Hop Harrigan, Hawkgirl, Johnny Thunder, Ma Hunkle, Mr. Terrific, Sandy, Starman, Superman, Wildcat and Wonder Woman. The membership of the team was in a constant state of flux, and never had a truly consistent lineup until the later issues of All-Star Comics. The writer's decision of which heroes would become members of the Justice Society would depend on the character's popularity in his or her solo appearances. Even though characters would come and go, each guest star or new member would be a shining example of what made the Justice Society such a special and unique concept.

During the early appearances of the Justice Society in All-Star Comics, some of the stories were used as a way of exposing its young readers to the unpleasantness which was taking place in the real world. Other stories focused on how the team responded to the hardships brought about by World War II. These stories showed the JSA raising money for war orphans, transporting food to starving patriots, and temporarily disbanding to form the Justice Battalion in honor of the men and women risking their lives fighting in the war. Using comics as a way to promote patriotism and propaganda was not unique to only All-Star Comics. Many comic books portrayed unfavorable caricatures of the Germans and Japanese and showed the heroic characters of these books belittling them in some way. For many individuals comic books have always seemed to be a medium aimed at children, but in many instances they dealt with very adult subject matter.



The creation of the JSA caused a domino effect which resulted in the subsequent creation of numerous super hero groups. Comic companies knew that the idea of having a group of heroes appearing together as a team had great potential. The All-Winners Squad, Boy Commandos, and Seven Soldiers of Victory are just a few teams who owed their creation, during the golden age, to the Justice Society. Team books did not flourish during the golden age and many did not remain in publication for very long. It was the introduction of the Fantastic Four, during the silver age, where the comic team books began to have success. But would the Fantastic Four ever have been created if it wasn't for the Justice Society?

The final appearance of the Justice Society during the golden age was All-Star Comics #57 (1951). This would mark the final time that the Justice Society would grace the pages of comic books for over a decade. It would not be until the publication of Flash #123 (1961) during the silver age where heroes from the golden age would once again emerge. The silver age of comics began with the publication of Showcase #4 and introduced readers to the Flash. This character had a new costume, a new secret identity, a new origin, but a very old name. After the appearance of the Flash, readers were introduced to modern versions of the Atom, Green Lantern, and Hawkman. Even though these characters were all new versions of their golden age forefathers, it was quite evident that similarities between the two versions existed. It was during this period of comic history where some of the most delightful and enjoyable stories containing the Justice Society and its members were published.

The appearances of members of the Justice Society of America in the silver age began with Flash #123, which reintroduced the original Flash, Jay Garrick. The story focused on the new Flash accidentally entering a parallel universe, which was identical to his own in almost every detail. One of the major differences the Flash noticed was that instead of having a Central City, this new earth had Keystone City. The Flash immediately recognized this city as being the home of the original Flash, whose adventures he followed in comic books as a child. As the story unfolded readers were reintroduced not only to Jay Garrick, but also to his enemies, the Fiddler, Shade, and the Thinker. The fact that this issue marked the first silver age appearances of these characters and introduced readers to the multiple earths concept, which would become a staple of D.C. Comics for many years to come, makes it one of the most classic stories ever published.

With the publication of Flash #123, older comic fans were overjoyed by the reappearance of the old characters, while the new generation of readers became enthralled with these golden age heroes and villains. Regardless of when readers began to collect D.C. Comics they knew they wanted to see more of these golden age greats. Well, with the publication of issues 129 and 137 of The Flash, the readership got their wish. Flash #129 (1962) contained the first silver age appearances (in a cameo) of the original versions of the Atom, Black Canary, Dr. Mid-Nite, Green Lantern, Hawkman and Wonder Woman, and the second silver age appearance of the original Flash. The story began with Jay Garrick reminiscing about the Justice Society and the last adventure they shared. An emergency on his world forced Jay to travel to Earth-1 (where all the silver age heroes live), and he once again met his youthful doppelganger. While on Earth-1 the heroes teamed up to battle Barry Allen's enemies Captain Cold and The Trickster.

A SUPER-STAR SPECTACULAR FEATURING THE LEGENDARY
JUSTICE SOCIETY OF AMERICA...
"CRISIS ON EARTH-THREE!"

Flash #137 (1963) marked what is now considered the first silver age appearance of the Justice Society as a team. This issue also reintroduced readers to the villainy of Vandal Savage. The story centered around Barry Allen once again traveling to Earth-2 (where all the golden age heroes live) to explore his theory that strange lights which appeared in the skies of his world had a connection to the JSA. He and Jay Garrick eventually discovered that the members of the JSA were missing. The heroes wind up finding Vandal Savage, and learn that he had captured the members of the JSA. The Flashes eventually released the heroes and joined forces with them to defeat Vandal Savage. At the end of the story the heroes agreed to come out of retirement and join forces once again as the Justice Society of America. The team and it's members returned with all the magic and appeal they had during their heyday.

After their appearance in Flash, the Justice Society appeared in numerous issues of the Justice League of America. It was in issues 21 and 22 (1963) of Justice League of America where the team made its first full silver age appearance. The story not only reintroduced readers to Dr. Fate, Hourman, Icicle and the Wizard, but also began what would become an annual team-up between the JLA and JSA. The premise of the story in JLA issues 21 and 22 had villains from Earth-1 and Earth-2 committing crimes on each other's worlds. The villains traded earths because they felt they would have an advantage fighting heroes unfamiliar with their powers and tactics. As the story unfolds the heroes are defeated by the so-called Crime Champions and are imprisoned in magical cages which contain all the heroes' weaknesses. As is always the case with comic books the heroes triumph over the villains, but what made this story so wonderful was seeing heroes from two different generations join forces to solve a problem that neither group could have solved on their own. In comics it was easy to put aside the generation gap, and have the old and young treat each other with mutual respect.

The teams met again in issues 29 and 30 (1964) of Justice League of America. These issues introduced an evil version of the Justice League, called the Crime Syndicate, who originated from another parallel world called Earth-3. These books also reintroduced readers to the golden age Starman. The story in these books was basically a slugfest between the three groups, but it was handled without all the blood and gore which can be found in most of today's comic battles.

Issues 37 and 38 (1965) of Justice League of America had Johnny Thunder traveling to Earth-1 to meet his counterpart, only to find out that he was an evil version of himself. The evil Johnny Thunder managed to gain control of Thunderbolt and commanded him to prevent the Justice League from ever being created. The Justice Society learned of what had taken place and traveled to Earth-1 to help their friends. The evil Thunder had Thunderbolt create an evil version of the Justice League, called the Lawless League of America, to battle the JSA. After defeating the group the JSA fought Johnny Thunder on the moon in a battle so fierce that it caused the evil Thunder to wish that everything had never taken place, and just like Bobby stepping out of the shower, everything was back to normal. These issues' highlights are the first silver age appearances of Mr. Terrific, and two issues of fun reading devoted entirely to the Justice Society.

Justice League of America issues 46 and 47 (1966) contained a story pitting the teams against the Anti-Matter Man, Blockbuster and Solomon Grundy. The plot of the story involved the Anti-Matter Man entering the positive matter universe causing Earths-1 and 2 to head on a collision course with each other. As the planets moved closer together, individuals began to instantaneously shift from one world to the other. Heroes, villains and the "ordinary" folk found themselves on unfamiliar ground, and it would only be through the team work of both groups that would return everything to normal. These issues contain the first silver age appearances of the Sandman, and show some great art of the Spectre holding the two worlds apart.

In Flash #137 the golden age Wonder Woman appeared, but what ever happened to that era's Batman, Superman and Robin? Well, Justice League of America issues 55 and 56 (1967) began to answer that question by introducing an adult version of the golden age Robin. Issue #55 not only shows Robin joining the Justice Society, their first new member since Black Canary joined in the forties, but also made reference to an Earth-2 version of Batman who was in semi-retirement. (The Earth-2 Batman does not appear in a JLA/JSA team-up until issues 86 and 87 [1970] of JLA.) This story once again had the teams battling beings from another universe. The so-called Black Spheres, creatures of pure energy, invaded the worlds and took control of the bodies of various individuals. The story gave an enjoyable solution by having these powerful energy beings susceptible to such simple things as water, wood, flowers and of all things, humor.

The final two team-ups between the groups during the silver age are in issues 64, 65, 73 and 74 of Justice League of America. Issues 64 and 65 (1968) introduced the Red Tornado, an android who was created by T.O. Morrow to destroy the JSA and JLA. The Justice Society only appeared in issue 64, where they were defeated by a duped Red Tornado, and issue 65 showed the Justice League's defeat because of the android. The true heroes of this story were the love interests of the members of the Justice League who came to the rescue of their significant others at the behest of the Red Tornado. Issues 73 and 74 (1969; first silver age Earth-2 Superman) of the Justice League began a series of tragic team-ups between the two groups. It is in this story where Larry Lance, the husband of the Black Canary, sacrificed his life in a battle with a being called Aquarius. The story showed that it took more than powers and a fancy costume to make a hero.

The appearances of the golden age characters were not contained simply in Flash and Justice League of America. Some books had issues devoted entirely to the golden age heroes. Starman and Black Canary teamed up in issues 61 and 62 (1965) of Brave and the Bold. Issue 61 had the heroes battling the Mist, and issue 62 had them team-up with Wildcat (first silver age appearance) against the Huntress and Sportsmaster. Showcase issues 55, 56, 60, 61, and 64 were another set of books devoted entirely to Justice Society members. Issues 55 and 56 (1965) had team-ups between Dr. Fate and Hourman. Issue 55 had the duo, along with the original Green Lantern (first solo appearance in silver age), battle Solomon Grundy (first silver age appearance). Issue 56 had Dr. Fate and Hourman battle an all new version of the Psycho Pirate. Showcase issues 60, 61 and 64 (1966) marked the first three silver age appearances of the Spectre. The story in issue 60 dealt with the reason he had not been around for the past twenty years. The explanation was that a being known as Azmodus, who came from another dimension, joined with a human host causing himself and the Spectre to become simultaneously trapped in their respective host's bodies. When Azmodus' host died he traveled to his dimension and brought back a powerful object which he called the Silver Bullet. It would be this object that allowed the Spectre to be free once again. These issues of Brave and the Bold and Showcase not only contain some interesting stories, but also sport the artwork of Murphy Anderson.

THE FLASH
A SUPER-SPECTACULAR THAT IS SURE TO BECOME A CLASSIC!

Finally, we cannot end without mentioning the solo appearances the golden age heroes had with their silver age counterparts. The golden age Atom teamed up with Ray Palmer (the silver age Atom) in issues 29 (1967), where they battled the Thinker, and 36 of The Atom. The golden age Green Lantern would team up with Hal Jordan in issues 40, 45, 52 and 61 of Green Lantern. Issue 40 (1965) of GL is a key issue for collectors of D.C. Comics, because it not only gives the origin of the Guardians of the Universe, but also contains the story which will be used in Crisis on Infinite Earths to explain the reason for the existence of multiple universes. Issue 61 of GL is also an interesting story, because it explores what could happen when a Green Lantern's power is abused. As was stated before the golden age Flash teamed with Barry Allen in issues 123, 129, 137, 151, and 170 of the Flash. Issue 151 had the two Flashes battling the Shade, and issue 170 contained appearances by Dr. Fate and Dr. Mid-Nite, as well as Jay Garrick.

The golden and silver age books featuring appearances by the Justice Society of America contain the team's greatest adventures. My recommendation to all the collectors who are true fans of the JSA is to find these books regardless of the condition they are in and enjoy the stories and art in them. After all, isn't that what collecting comics is all about?

SILVER & GOLD

Is Silver Dying or Merely Ailing?

By Dr. J. Keith Contarino

"Do not nail me to this cross of gold." What was William Jennings Bryan talking about? Was he a 19th century prophet and foreseer of late 20th century comic book markets? Was a silver vs. gold standard a progenitor of things to come?

All kidding aside, when the terms "golden age" and "silver age" (and Bronze, Iron, Modern ad nauseam) were coined, they were to designate type, quality and genre of comic book. Investment potential and prices were not a major consideration. Of course, golden age books were always more expensive than comparable silver age books (Action #1 vs. Showcase #4, etc.), merely due to scarcity and age. It's time now to look at these ages from an economic and investment point of view.

Let's recap a little. Those of you who have followed my rantings and ravings the last seven or eight years will remember the late '80s and the huge jump in silver age prices. It seemed Spider-Man #1 jumped from $850 to $4,000 in near mint overnight. (It actually took four years.) Four years later, it's flirting with a $20,000 price tag. Amazing Fantasy #15 has gotten even crazier, with a documented sale of $40,000 for a copy many feel is not even a true near mint. Books that had almost no value in 1985 (Our Army at War #81, Showcase #55 and #60, Strange Adventures, Sgt. Fury) had increased in value thousands of percent over a very short time. Other books that were always collectible but not spectacular suddenly became "keys" or "minor keys" (Star Spangled War #90, Spider-Man #14,25,40, Fantastic Four #48, Strange Tales #97, Tales to Astonish #44) and also escalated rapidly. Major keys went through the roof. Today, there is no Marvel Key you can touch for under $1,000 for a nice copy - books like Daredevil #1 and Avengers #4, which were plentiful with nice white covers and in the $400 price range just a few years ago, are all of a sudden scarce and commanding $1500 and up if in near mint.

The big four Marvel's Amazing Fantasy #15, Amazing Spider-Man #1, Hulk #1, Fantastic Four #1 are out of almost everyone's price range in near mint. For that matter, beat up good copies of Amazing Fantasy #15 are carrying price tags of over $1200, and Amazing Spider-Man #1 guides at $900. Fantastic Four #1 guides at $1000, and Hulk #1 is tagged at $650 or so. All the other major keys have gotten pricey also. At D.C., things are even a little crazier: $5,000 for a VF+ Lois Lane #1? $6,000 for a near mint Brave and Bold #34? (Yes, you read that right—34 not 28.) I hear someone's asking ten grand for a near mint Showcase #9! Now I'll grant you that's a very tough book to find above fine; but it's just Lois Lane, and it's not even her first appearance, origin, pregnancy or what have you! I think Atomic Bunny #1 is equally as rare in near mint, and, personally, it's a lot better character.

Be that as it may, and my personal likes and dislikes aside, it's a fact that high grade silver is no longer affordable by most people, even those with pretty good incomes. I'd wager there are few with salaries of $100,000 a year who think $40,000 for an Amazing Fantasy #15 is affordable. When books get this expensive, the clientele for them shrinks drastically.

What about low grade keys? Well-Marvels are slowing down for us, at least the very expensive ones. Clients who could afford $3,000-$5,000 for a nice Fantastic Four #1 or Hulk #1 aren't wild about spending $1,000 for a good or very good copy. Clients who have good and very good collections have a hard time affording $1,000 for those copies. Let's face it, collectors are a picky lot. Collectors of very fine or better silver are not going to accept low or mid grades, so who's going to buy those copies? Now, books like Daredevil #1 sell great in low grade because good or GVG copies sell in the $150 range, a price anyone can afford.

Low to mid-grade ten cent D.C. Keys continue to be hard sells with the exception of certain books that are truly hard to find in any grade: Showcase #6, 9; Challengers #1; or still really cheap in guide in low grades Lois Lane #1, Showcase #17, Mystery in Space #53. Twelve-centers are still tough to sell in all grades below very fine and very plentiful.

The next obvious group to look at is non-key silver. We recently did a three day show in Atlanta and didn't sell a single 12 cent Spider-Man. We had copies of all issues #1-50, some in very nice shape and others not so nice. No one even looked at either copy of the #1 we had. We also ran a 50% off sale of all boxed books and sold out of early Fantastic Four, X-Men, Conan #2-24 and pre-hero Marvels. The bad news is, books like Justice League of America #11-20, Green Lantern #11-30, Avengers #6-20, Daredevil #9-30, Strange Tales #115-140, Tales of Suspense #70-90, and Tales to Astonish #75-101 did not move at all. Many of these books had two to three year old price stickers, and 50% of that amounted to 70% off guide in many cases. We even had a VG+ Rip Hunter #1, and a VG Hawkman #1 that I purposely left in the boxes to see if they would sell. They did not.

Of course, you can't look at the whole market based on one show. I'm not. I've talked with lots of dealers all over the country for the last six months, and general agreement is that silver is getting too expensive in high grade and dragging the low grades along with it. A near mint Amazing Fantasy #15 may be worth $30,000-$40,000 but, as I've harped on for what seems to be an eternity, that does not mean low grades should similarly escalate. So, here we go again. As long as price guides remain gutless and insist on pricing books based on imaginary and arbitrary computer-generated percentages instead of not only using actual prices of books sold but prices at which they do not sell, we will continue to drive collectors away from decent low grade books. I am convinced there is a huge number of low grade collectors. Every week I hear another tell me they're just waiting to see prices fall. Low grades that are already reasonable like Fantastic Four issues 2-20 are now selling very well. Accurate pricing means pricing books at figures where they actually will sell within a reasonable amount of time. For example, you shouldn't count a Spider-Man #1 in good advertised at $1,450 if it never sells. Likewise, you shouldn't use prices that were set for immediate sale like Spider-Man #1 in Good at $350. But, if it doesn't sell at $1,000 in 30 days, and you lower it to $850 for another 30 days and it finally sells at $700 — Bingo! That's a pretty accurate figure for your market.

Now—let's look at investors. They are not stupid. They see what's happening with silver age. They know high grades are going to continue to escalate but may not be affordable. Is a Spider-Man #1 in fine at $3,000-$3,500 a good investment? What other books out there in that price range are better investments? Well—if I were looking at investment books, I'd like to find books in low supply, decent demand now and in the foreseeable future and which seem to be low or moderately priced now. Well—look no further! Why does Submariner #1 guide for over $600 less than Spider-Man #1 in fine? Human Torch #1 in the Big Yearly Guide essentially was priced equal to Spider-Man #1 in fine! Does this seem remotely absurd to anyone else out there? There may be 30 or 40 Torch #1 in fine and maybe 60-80 Submariner #1. There may even be less. How many Spider-Man #1 in fine are there? 5,000? I don't know, but they seem to be everywhere. Both the Timelys are popular books and should remain so forever. Spider-Man #1 is a great book, but a better investment than Torch, or Submariner #1? I don't think so.

Literally every dealer I talk with is selling golden age at an unprecedented rate. Not just keys, but all golden age. Timelys, D.C.'s Centaur, Fiction House, Fawcetts, Quality, Lou Fine covers, Rac Raboy art, Schomburg covers, etc. High grades, low grades, mid-grades—it doesn't seem to matter. Anything from 1936 through the '50s revival of Torch, Cap and Submariner is in demand. Even Good Girl and Seduction Books are hot again. We also sold out of all our pre-code EC's over the last eight weeks. Larsons, Cosmic Aeroplanes, Windy Cities and—of course—Mile Highs are all moving well at 1.5 to 5.0 guide. Collectors are trying to rapidly fill their collections, and investors see the writing on the wall and are buying up what's available before prices go up. It doesn't take a genius to realize that getting the first appearance of Lex Luthor for less than the first Green Goblin is an extremely good deal. For $350, you can get a Lou Fine Flame cover in pretty decent condition or a Fantastic Four #48 in FVF. Not to knock Fantastic Four #48; it's a great book but what would you choose? I won't bore you with more examples, but they are currently endless.

The reason for this, of course, is that prices are currently too high for silver and too low for gold. How long this will last, I can't tell. I doubt silver will drop, but it can't continue to escalate across the board. Gold is already starting to jump rapidly, as the golden age updates are in the same place now as when Jon started the silver age updates in the early '80s. It was the updates and bulletins that allowed silver to take off like it did.

Watch for gold to do this also, and I don't mean just the obvious big books, but all gold, even books like Archie #1. It will take some time for the cycle to complete itself. Now, silver is too high in comparison to gold, so gold must go up. Get in now. Enjoy!

A LIST OF RECOMMENDED GOLDEN AGE INVESTMENTS

1. Young Men* #24. I know many of you won't consider 1951-1955 as golden age, but this book is very rare and contains the origin of all big three Timely characters. Amazingly, it guides for less than Men's Adventures #27, and #28, which came out a year later and have no origins. Expect to pay at least 3x guide and 5x is reasonable. - see below.
2. Suspense* #3. The biggest joke in any price guide. Rare in any grade. Possibly the last true legitimate 10x guide book. I include this book, but you probably won't be able to find one.
3. Action* #23. Early 1940! First Luthor! First Daily Planet! Too cheap! Need I say more!
4. Captain America* #74 and #75. Cap Weird Tales. Both are hard to find in any grade and very sought after. Buy them now.
5. Marvel Mystery* #92. Another hard to find, inexpensive origin story. For my money, a better deal than Cap 59.
6. Whiz* #25. No great secret. The best Fawcett buy out there. Expect to pay above guide.
7. More Fun* #73 (11/41). Origin and first Aquaman and the first appearance of Green Arrow and Speedy. This is a very overlooked book and still very cheap.
8. Submariner* #1. OK, the book is not cheap per se; but it sure is when compared to key silver. Still can find nice, solid copies in the $2-4,000 range.
9. More Fun* #101 (1945). First appearance and origin of Superboy. Still cheap.
10. All the Atlas '50s bring back of golden age Timely characters!

Oh, yea—before I close, here's a little price guide lunacy update. Young Men* #24 is one of the hottest, most sought after books anywhere today. I have never seen a copy above fine. As I write this, a good client of mine is preparing to plunk down $500 for a VGF copy, and it may not be a bad deal. Maybe someone can explain to me why Men's Adventures #27 and #28, which came out a full year later, do not have origins and are nowhere near as sought after, guide for more than Young Men #24 in both good and fine. Go figure!

This will be my last article for a while. I am busy trying to go on-line via CompuServe with a veterinary bulletin board of articles written for pet owners. I hope to be able to contribute to Comics Source from time to time but probably not monthly or even every other month. I thank Jon for the opportunity to express my views. I think he is one of the last players of unquestioned integrity in this game, and I have always been proud to call him a friend. Comics Source may be the last place people can carry on unedited discourse on the issues that concern us all. I will continue to support Comics Source and will be back writing as soon as I can, probably January, 1995.

Until then, be square, be fair. Wait a minute—that's Jack's line, not mine. Incidentally, the J. stands for John and my brother is alive and well in Wilmington, North Carolina and New York City, where he owns and operates an audiovisual backstage production company. I'm also sorry you all missed Jack and I singing Happy Birthday to Bob Burden at Dragon Con. See you again in '95. Go Dawgs! ■

Shakin' The Bushes

Ackermansion

By Jack Mallette

I greatly enjoy reading the personal recollections of the other writers in Comics Source. I would never have met Keith Contarino had he not encountered Showcase #4 in his personal "golden age." He is a talented writer, a fair dealer and a good friend, and there is no greater compliment I can pay.

Dr. Keith is currently deep in training for the Atlanta Marathon during Thanksgiving weekend, so join me in wishing him good luck and God speed. It can still get fairly warm during November in Atlanta, so he may need all the help he can get.

Writing for Comics Source is still a fresh adventure for me. The magazine and its overall concept are still in their infancy, and I relish being part of a group of talented writers like Jon Warren, Dr. Keith, Ron Goulart, David Alexander and the rest. Every issue that we combine our efforts becomes an integral part of the evolution of comics fandom, and this fact is not lost on any one of us.

I also appreciate the many nice cards and letters even from "my worst Antipodean nightmare" in Australia, Dr. Tony Di Rio. The bid is at 2.5 mil, Tony. Still in? Please advise.

If you are one of the growing number of fans of Comics Source, pass an issue along to a friend and explain how it works as a buy/sell/trade publication. The overall growth and success of a hobby-oriented publication like Comics Source depends on many different factors, not the least of which is the success of our many advertisers in the Marketplace section. Give them a try, if you haven't already, and if you're looking for that elusive issue for a customer or to fill in a run, it only costs a George Washington to run a "desperately seeking so-and-so" ad in Comics Source. You reach several thousand serious dealers and collectors, so I'd consider it a buck well spent.

Ah, and my eternal gratitude to Denna Kester. If it were left up to me, I'd still be typing my contribution to issue #2.

I was reminiscing with a friend and fellow collector the other day about one of my California trips around ten years ago, and I recounted the story of my visit to Forrest J. Ackerman's "Ackermansion" with my good friend and schoolmate, William T. Mitchell.

For those of you not familiar with "Forry," as he is affectionately called by those in fandom who know him best, his career accomplishments are too numerous to mention here. Suffice it to say that he has been THE guiding light in Science Fiction fandom since its official inception over half a century ago.

He was the founder and writer/editor/publisher of Famous Monsters of Filmland, now happily making a comeback after several years' hiatus.

He created Vampirella, 'Nuff said there.

The dean of American science fiction authors, Ray Bradbury, learned about sci-fi at HIS feet. (And, come to think of it, I think he even coined the term "sci-fi.")

He has appeared in over twelve zillion movies, the latest being Beverly Hills Cop III with Eddie Murphy.

His unequaled collection of science fiction memorabilia, including books, magazines, posters, props, comic books, stills, autographs, etc. took up three floors, the basement, and every possible nook and cranny of the Ackermansion in the Hollywood hills. He even had the basement turned into a dungeon, using sci-fi movie props for a morbid reality I found quite appealing.

I could go on and on.

When we first met at the Atlanta Fantasy Fair nearly fifteen years ago, he invited me to visit the Ackermansion, as he had many other fans, just as long as I called a couple of days ahead of time and made an appointment for a Saturday visit.

It took another five years before I could make the time, but it was worth the wait. (I know he auctioned off a sizeable portion of his collection a few years ago, so I don't know if he still entertains visitors.)

William "Spook" Mitchell and I made our way to the Ackermansion one Saturday after being assured several days ahead of time that we were "on."

After a brief tour of the upstairs living area and its incredible display of original paintings and drawings by some of the most recognizable names in science fiction and fantasy, we descended into the "bowels" of the Ackermansion, where every inch of wall space was covered with art, stills, posters, etc. and every bookcase was crammed to overflowing with books of every description.

Forry had thousands upon thousands of books, all related to his fields of interest. He had copies of Bram Stoker's Dracula in nearly every language on earth, and almost as many of Metropolis. Remember the scene at the beginning of The Bodyguard where Kevin Costner walks into Whitney Houston's house as they're filming a music video, and he strolls by a copy of the original female robot from Metropolis? That's Forry's. He had it constructed because the original is his "Holy Grail" of sci-fi collecting, and he knew that he would probably never find it.

Just after he showed it to us in the downstairs area of his home, the phone rang, and he went around the corner to answer it. We could hear his conversation very clearly, and my memory of it kicks in around "Well, say, Jerry, I've got a couple of collectors from Mississippi here, and I'm giving them the ten-dollar tour. Would you like to say hello? Okay, sure, I'll put 'em on."

"Would either of you gents care to say hello to Jerry Siegel?" he asked.

Mouths open, no sound, feet rooted to the floor. I turned to look at William, and saw that his eyes were bugging out. He looked for all the world like he had just stepped out of a Tarzan movie. How appropriate, I thought.

Now what on earth would a tongue-tied yokel from Dixie have to talk about with the man who created Superman? I couldn't think of a thing.

"Sure, I'll talk to him!" I answered. Hey, I was born at night, but it wasn't last night. I'd probably never have the opportunity again.

I introduced myself and quickly inquired about his health. He seemed flattered that I knew he'd recently been in the hospital and he warmed quickly to the conversation after that. I told him that my Holy Grail of comic collecting would be a high grade Action #1, and he laughed when I asked if he was sure he didn't have a spare copy around somewhere. He said he used to, but he'd given them all away years ago.

There was so much I wanted to ask him. How does it feel to wake up in the morning knowing that you created the most famous comic character ever? And, uh, how does it feel to go to sleep at night knowing you created the most famous comic character ever?

All too soon it was time to pass the phone to William, and as I stood there as he talked, I somehow felt...bigger. More complete. Another thread in the fabric.

My final recollection comes from our venture with Forry into one of the more obscure closets in his home. To him it was a closet. I could've fit my entire collection in it.

This particular cubicle contained all his science-fiction fanzines, all neatly stacked in boxes and categorized. Most of us have a few of these in our collections, and those of us who don't have probably thumbed through a box or two of them at conventions.

Forry had them ALL!

He directed me to climb a ladder and reach up to a particular shelf. Try that box there, he said. Show me. Nope, try the next one.

For the rest of my life, I'll remember the event as a slow motion clip interspersed with "flashes" of memory fixed, like photos, in my consciousness.

I removed the box top. My stomach got a little weak, and I'm sure my jaw dropped. I looked down at Forry, and he just grinned.

"Oh, he's found something good!" he said.

I gingerly handed him the box of ancient mimeographed fanzines in all their crude glory.

"Do you know what this is?" he asked.

One quick glance had told me. I don't remember the name, but it was volume 1, number 1, etc. of a science-fiction fanzine edited and published by sci-fi superstar Ray Bradbury when he was young.

And paper clipped to the front page was a pencil drawing of a space alien done by a 15 year old Ray Bradbury. Signed, no less.

Shammalammadingdong.

All the science fiction collectors in the world who'd cut off an appendage or two just for the chance at owning such an item, and I'm standing there holding it.

Say, Forry, do you trade?

Actually, I did achieve a small measure of satisfaction when I was able to supply him with a couple of items he didn't have in his collection, but, unfortunately, the drawing remained behind when we took our leave.

This was truly one of the highlights of my collecting "career," and if you are fortunate enough to be able to view one of the foremost collections of comics or science fiction in the country, as I have been on several occasions, never pass up the opportunity.

Trust me.

Until next time, be honest, be fair, beware.

Bye!

America's Comic Book Marketplace

HOT COLD BOUGHT SOLD

By James Cangialosi

Trends are constantly changing. Every month there are new books on want lists, and other books which fall out of favor with collectors and investors. Hopefully, this column will give readers insight into the changes taking place in the market, as well as a look at the market through the eyes of some of the top dealers of golden and silver age comics. Here you will find information on which books dealers feel are moving and which are not, recent sales of various golden and silver age books, and comments from the dealers. I would like to thank everyone for taking the time to help make this column possible.

Amazing Spider-Man Nos. 3 in GD for $150 and 6 in FR/GD for $125, Brave and the Bold No. 54 (first appearance of the Teen Titans) in VG for $40, Iron Man No. 4 in VF for $40, Strange Tales No. 120 in VG for $15, and X-Men No. 27 in VF for $35.

OPINION

The smaller press comic companies lack the funds necessary to push their new books, and as a result are being overwhelmed by the larger comic companies. Word of mouth helps to give notice to new books from the larger companies, and gives them the upper hand in sales.

Timely super-hero issues. Lower grade golden age books are the bargains of the industry, due to the fact that they are more moderately priced than the higher grade counterparts.

COLD
The terms hot and cold should not be placed on golden age comics. This part of the industry is very specialized, and any particular golden age book is eventually sold when it finds the right customer.

OPINION
You say: Investors have taken over the hobby.
I say: Where have you been the last 5 years—get over it.
You say: Buy books that you like.
I say: What if you only like books that go up in value?
You say: Too many price guides are coming out.
I say: Comics Values Monthly reportedly is out of business, Hero is dropping their price guide, Comics Collector is changing format, and Overstreet just sold out—the price guide glut is over!
You say: Price guides are bad.
I say: They are a necessary tool (should I have said necessary evil?) which need improvement and refinement.
You say: The new book glut is hurting the industry.
I say: Try telling that to Steve Geppi.
You say: Some dealers are selling color-touched or restored books without disclosing it.
I say: They should be tarred, feathered and whipped like stepchildren.
You say: Too much blood, gore, and sex in comics.
I say: Where's Wertham when you need him!

That's it for this month.
Good night, Jim.
Good night, Jon.
Good night, Grandpa.

MARKET TALK

This is your forum

Collectors and dealers are welcome to send us their comments, market reports, opinions on the state of the comics market, or any market-related letters to be included in Comics Source's open forum—"Market Talk."

In our opinion, other magazines ignore the collector's viewpoint when it comes to market reports. Dealer reports are important, but we feel collectors have equally important opinions about the state of the market. So, collectors, here's your forum, your chance to say your two cents worth.

And you get paid for it! If we publish your letter, we will send you a coupon good for $25 worth of FREE marketplace listings. All letters become the property of Comics Source.

Lowering Sights

I really enjoy your magazine and felt compelled to respond to a question your editor had in the Market Talk last issue. Nearmintlepsia: a terrible disease! And I do admit to having a slight case of it myself. Let's face it, no one wants a crummy-looking book, especially if it was printed after 1974, right? Still, narrowing your sights by demanding only NM-M can be extremely frustrating, not to mention expensive.

These two barriers have caused me to drop my standards slightly, especially on older books. For example, I found a copy of Adventure Comics #300 at the local comic shop the other day. It was well below the pristine NM grade, but was complete with the cover still attached (still a demand of mine) and since I've been collecting Legion Of Super-Heroes (the genuine Legion, not the ones you see on the stands today) it was a major key for my collection. A look into my price guide at the book's current "value" would normally scare me off, but I asked the dealer what he would take for it. When he said $15, I snapped it up.

My opinion as a semi-serious collector who loves old comics: don't pass up the old treasures because you're holding out for that ever-elusive "high-grade" copy. They're an investment, I know, but they're supposed to be fun, too. And it felt really good paying fifteen dollars for this comic... a lot better, I'm sure, than having to explain to my wife why our checking account is $300 slimmer this month if I had bought a high-grade copy.

Mike Drinkard
Meridianville, AL

Flexibility, that's the important thing. If readers came away from my comments last month thinking I was down on anyone that bought high-grade books, I'm sorry for the misunderstanding. It's fine to pick up a high-grade when when it turns up for sale, my point was that collectors should not pass up the opportunity to add a book to their collection simply because it doesn't fit into the "ultra-high-grade" category.

Investing in comics has been very profitable for people who have taken a long-term approach. Using a long-term approach means that you can buy copies in various grades, and they will still appreciate at a very good rate over five, ten, or twenty years. By being flexible in the grade you will accept, you are able to buy rare books as they turn up on the market, instead of passing up opportunities awaiting that one-chance-in-a-thousand to own the best copy in existence. My advice is simply to buy, then upgrade as better copies become available.

WANTED — YOUR MARKET TALK!

Collector or dealer, you have a valuable viewpoint. If we print your letter, we will send you a coupon good for 25 free Marketplace listings which you can use for WANTED or FOR SALE listings. HOW TO USE TICKERTAPE

TickerTape is such a revolutionary way of reporting prices that, at first, many readers don't understand how to use it. But once they see what it is all about, most people say, "Whoa! Why didn't someone think of this before?" The answer is simple, no one else has the genius and vision that us Einstein's here at Comics Source have. Ha!

To help you lesser mortals understand, we have provided the information below to help explain the format. Remember, all of the prices you see in TickerTape are actual, documented sales—not estimates, averages, or bald-faced guesses. Hey, TickerTape is the truest kind of price guide. But we're always looking for ways to improve, so if you have any suggestions, write us at TickerTape, Box 2512, Chattanooga, TN 37409

MAIL-ORDER TIPS

ANYWHERE
PM
10 MAY
USA

For many of you, mail-order is your primary means of purchasing items for your collection. That's why COMICS SOURCE has put together the following special section. Our Marketplace offers a convenient place to quickly find the items you need from a wide variety of dealers and collectors. But before you shop by phone, look for the mail-order source that is best for you. Here are a few tips to help you get the most out of your buying experience.

Mail order is an excellent way to buy and sell, because it gives you instant access to more buyers, sellers and merchandise than can be found in any geographic market. But, as in any endeavor, it's smart to take precautions.

Here are a few tips that will make your dealings through the mail easy and hassle free.

Research The Company

Well-established companies or long-time collectors tend to be reliable, but if you're not sure how well established a company or individual is, it pays to do a little research and ask a few questions. Get References. Call the publication the ad was placed in and inquire as to any complaints levied against the persons placing the ad. Comics Source blacklists any advertiser who receives three unresolved written complaints.

Start Small

Purchase inexpensive items first, if possible. If you're pleased with the service you receive, order again.

Compare Prices

If a price seems too good to be true, beware. One of the greatest features of our marketplace is the ability to quickly compare prices. If someone's price is far below what others are offering the item for, ask why. There could be a good reason, but sometimes this is a sign of a potential rip-off. We try to screen advertisers, but it's still smart to take precautions.

Pay With Credit

Whenever possible, use a credit card. Some credit card companies do such things as chargeback on unsatisfactory purchases or give a refund if you find a lower price elsewhere. If you have a problem with an order, your credit card company will often deal with the mail-order company.

Be Cautious

Keep a record of your transactions (orders, follow-up letters, phone conversations) so that you have recourse in the unlikely event of a problem.

Consider using a 3rd party service

3rd party services, such as Pacific Comics Exchange, offer to act as an escrow service. Companies charge a fee for this service, but the fee is well worth it if you're spending large sums of money.

Ask For Photocopies

Most reliable collectors or dealers will be only too glad to send you a photocopy or Polaroid photo of an item. Sometimes they may ask for a small fee per photo.

Delivery Methods

Ask about delivery methods — find out what carriers are used, how fast they are, and how much each one costs. Record delivery information.

Return Policies

Because you're buying sight unseen, make sure the company or individual has a return policy you're comfortable with. Find out if you are responsible for paying shipping charges on returned goods and whether you'll be charged a restocking fee. A typical return policy is six days from date of receipt. If the company does not offer a return policy, don't buy!

MAKING THE GRADE

How To Grade Your Comics Like The Pros

by Jon R. Warren

"The Hot-Rod Chariot Rac

Comic books, like coins, stamps, sports cards, movie posters, and everything else that people collect, are valued according to condition. Because human beings prize things that glitter, the more like new the book is, the more collectors will pay for it. Seems simple enough, right? WRONG!

Because talking about condition really means talking about money, buyers and sellers often have a hard time agreeing on the grade of a book. But, fortunately, there are standard terms that everyone does agree on (what those terms mean is another story). Unluckily, it takes years of looking at thousands of variances of grade before you can really be a knowledgeable grader. So how do you know what grade a comic book is in if you are new at making the grade? Let me suggest that you start simple and then focus in on the final grade.

First let's look at some general terms that could be used to describe the condition of a comic book, then we'll cover some of the specialized terms that dealers and collectors use.

PERFECT

We all know what that is, it's a book in brand new condition. When you go to the newstand and pick the best copy you can find, that's probably a PERFECT, like-new comic book (unless it was mangled on the newsstand). The term for a comic book in perfect condition is MINT. Although some dealers will try to convince you that 30 or 40 year-old comic books aren't graded as strictly as new comics, I wouldn't believe it if I were you. When it comes to MINT, mint is mint. Period.

ABOVE AVERAGE

If someone bought a comic, read it once or twice, then carefully filed it away, it is in ABOVE AVERAGE condition. We refer to comics in above average condition as VERY FINE (abbreviated VF).

AVERAGE

The term collectors use to describe a comic in AVERAGE condition is VERY GOOD (or VG for short). Since comic books are supposed to be read and handled, books that have been read and handled are in average condition. Creased corners, little tears, stuff that you could expect from normal use is common in a VG condition book.

BELOW AVERAGE

Comic books that you owned when you were six years old are in BELOW AVERAGE condition because you probably beat the @@#$!! out of them. And they look it! The comic is still complete with all pages, but the cover might be loose, or a piece might be missing from the corner. You know what I mean... ROUGH ROUGH! Collectors describe comics in below-average condition as GOOD. Actually, there's nothing good about it other than the fact that you have a copy to keep until a better one comes along.

POOR

A book that looks like it was rescued from the trash is in POOR condition. You know you have handled a POOR condition book when you rush to wash your hands afterwards.

Now that you know the five basic ranges of condition a comic book can be in, it's a much easier task to focus in on exactly what the real grade is. Try it yourself. Take a stack of your books and grade them. Is the first one in the stack just like the day you bought it except for a tiny bend on the corner? Then it's not MINT, but you could certainly say it is ABOVE AVERAGE. Put it in the VF stack. Does the next one in the stack look kind of read and re-read? Put it in the VG stack. Continue sorting the books by basic grades. When you are done, refer to the following detailed grading descriptions. You can focus in on the actual grade by reading these fine-tuning grading descriptions. The one that sounds the closest to the grade of your book is the actual grade.

These are the terms that comic book collectors use to describe condition. At conventions or your local comics shop you will see these grades and grade-codes used to indicate grade. Memorize them, learn what they mean, and then you can start making the right grade.

GRADING DEFINITIONS & TERMS

Many collectors use a point system for figuring the grade of a comic. Some collectors use a 100 point scale, others use a 10 point scale. For our purposes, we will use a 10 point scale for grading comparisons. A perfect 10 is Mint, while a 1 is Good.

MINT (M)

A Perfect 10 on a 1-10 scale. A flawless copy in the same condition as the day it was printed. The MINT grade is virtually non-existent in Pre-1970 comics. Golden Age comics in MINT are extremely rare and fetch huge premiums over average copies of the same comic. When grading a comic mint, no consideration should be given to the age of the book. No printing defects can appear on a MINT comic. The cover should have full original gloss, and appear bright, with sharp corners and no imperfections of any sort. Minute color variations can occur during printing, and are allowed in the MINT classification. The inside covers and all pages are creamy white and fresh. The binding (spine) is tight, flat, and clean without wear or stress lines. Not the slightest blemish can be detected around staples, along the binding and edges, or at corners. Arrival dates pencilled (not inked) on the cover are usually acceptable as long as they're very small. When the surfaces of the front and back covers are held to the light, not the slightest wear, indentations, wrinkles or defects of any kind can be observed. As comics must be truly perfect to be in this grade, they are obviously extremely scarce and seldom offered for sale.

NEAR MINT TO MINT (NM/M)

Approaching MINT but with a very slight blemish of some sort. This grade is used interchangeably with NM+.

NM+

Top of the NM range. NM/M and NM+ are interchangeable.
NEAR MINT (NM)
9 on a 1-10 scale. A copy that is virtually MINT but for one or two very tiny imperfections. For excample, a tiny (1/16th inch) color flake missing at a staple, corner or edge, or a tiny (1/16th inch) edge tear is allowable in the category if no other imperfections are present. No crease of any kind. Superb cover gloss is present. A very few tiny stress lines along the spine could be present. Pages and covers should be creamy to white, not yellow or brown. No color touch-up, repair or restoration of any kind is allowed in this grade. This grade is very rare in books prior to 1970.

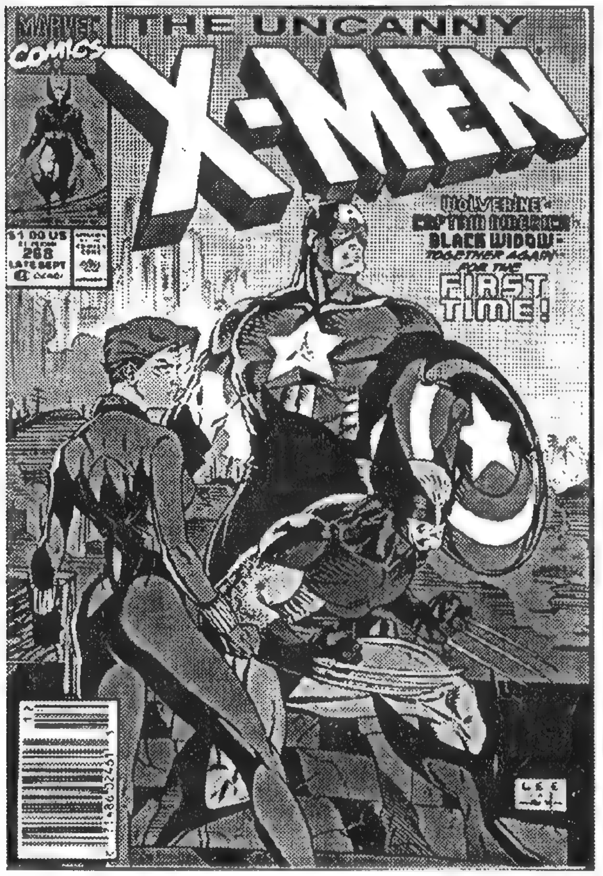
NM-

Bottom of the NM range.

VERY FINE NEAR MINT (VF/NM)

8 on a 1-10 scale. Beautiful, glossy and excellent in every way with only minor imperfections that keep it out of the higher grades. One tiny corner crease of less than 1/8th inch length is allowed. A couple of tiny (1/16th inch) stress lines along the spine are acceptable if the appearance of the book is not gravely affected. Pages should be creamy white, not yellowed or tan. A common defect in this grade is a tiny spine tear at the upper or lower binding (spine) not greater than 1/16th inch in length. One or two tiny tears (1/16th inch) are permitted in this grade if the copy is otherwise flawless. An extremely tiny tear repair, color touch-up, unobtrusive arrival date erasure or other similar invisible alteration, on an otherwise Near Mint copy, is permitted in this grade.

MINT IS COMMON IN RECENT COMICS



*Today, most recent comics are bought by collectors and immediately sealed in protective coverings. Recent releases are usually in Near Mint to Mint condition.

VF+

Top of the VF range.

VERY FINE (VF)

7 on a 1-10 scale. Superb. An outstanding copy in an unusual state of preservation. Clean and bright with sharp corners and pliant interior paper. Slight cover wear is present; possibly 5 or 6 tiny wrinkles or stress lines at staples or along spine where cover has been opened a few times; still clean and flat with 80 per cent of cover gloss retained. Interior page quality should be creamy to white, not yellowish or brown. A few tiny color chips or imperfections could be present. A faint 1/4" corner crease on an otherwise exceptional copy could be present in this grade. Very minor professional restoration or repair is permitted in this grade if noted and described.

VF-

Bottom of the VF range.

FINE-VERY FINE (FVF)

6 on a 1-10 scale. Above Average. A clean, bright copy lacking the crispness associated with Very Fine. Pages can be slightly yellowed but not brown or brittle. Several tiny stress lines along the spine or covers can be expected. Several tiny color flakes are permitted. No subscription creases or spine roll allowed in this grade. Corners may be slightly rounded. Exceptional cover gloss remains (60 per cent or more).

F+

Top of the FINE range.

FINE (F)

5 on a 1-10 scale. A slightly better-than-average copy with obvious aging and diminishment, but still relatively flat, clean and glossy without subscription creases, writing on cover (except possibly an arrival date), brown margins or tape repairs. Typical flaws include: Light spine wear, minor surface wear, a light crease (1/4" in length), minor yellowing/tanning to interior pages. Still a bright copy with 50 per cent cover gloss. A few stress lines around staples and along spine are normal in this grade, but not more than 1/8" in length. One small edge chip or several tiny chips (such as Marvel chips) are permitted in this grade. One minor tear is allowed on an otherwise FVF copy. A very minor spine roll on an otherwise clean and uncreased copy is permitted in this grade..
F-
Bottom of the FINE range.
VERY GOOD FINE (VG/F)
4 on a 1-10 scale. Better than VG+, approaching FINE but not quite sharp enough to merit the higher grade. Frequently, a FINE copy with an unusual flaw is lowered to VG/F.

VG+

Top of the VG range. Slightly below a VG/F copy.

VERY GOOD (VG)

3 on a 1-10 scale. Average. Ordinary signs of use. Appears used, but not abused. The common state of preservation of a comic book that has been used as intended. Significant diminishment of original cover glossiness. Noticeable discoloration or fading could be present. One or two minor markings on covers is permitted. Minor spine rolling may have occurred. Lightly creased along spine or extremities; a faint subscription crease is allowed. The covers could have a minor tear or crease where a corner was folded under. The centerfold could be detached or loose from the staples. A small chip or piece from the covers, or a small piece from an interior page that does not affect the live area (artwork area), is acceptable. Pages and inside covers could be tannish or yellowed, but not brittle. A small tape repair could be present in this grade. Still, the appearance of the comic is such that many collectors find the book acceptable until a better copy can be located.

VG-

Bottom of the VG range.

GOOD VERY GOOD (G/VG)

2 on a 1-10 scale. Approaching VERY GOOD, but with too many signs of abuse to be a solid VERY GOOD. G/VG and G+ represent a very slight variation in grade.

G+

Top of the GOOD range.

GOOD (G)

1 on a 1-10 scale. Below average. A worn copy but complete with all pages including centerfold, which may or may not be loose. Creased, scuffed, covers lack gloss, faded. Pages could be brown and brittle. Although a copy in this grade could have white pages and covers, the accumulation of defects such as creases, tears or chips and general wear prevent the book from a higher classification.

G-

Bottom of the GOOD range.

FR/G

Approaching GOOD, with too much wear to be a solid GOOD. FR/G and FR+ are interchangeable.

FR+

Heavily worn but approaching the GOOD classification.

FAIR (FR)

0.5 on a 1-10 scale. Used and abused. Extremely worn, creased, and dirty, with possibly loose pages or significant tears, but still complete. Possibly small pieces missing from the cover, inked markings, tape, etc.

P POOR

0 on a 1-10 scale! A terrible copy. Damaged; extremely worn; dirty; or otherwise unsuited for collection purposes. Pages could be missing. Could be coverless if noted.

Upper Edge Front Cover
Look for color flakes, chips, tiny creases, fraying.

Top Left Corner
Watch for edge wear, fraying, creases and rounding.

Top Right Corner
Watch for edge wear, fraying, creases and rounding.

Corner creases are common at the top and bottom right corners

Staples should be free of corrosion in higher grades. Wear around staples should be evaluated.

Amateur repair is common along the binding spine and corners of older comics. Watch for color touchup, invisible tape inside the cover, and piece replacement.

Right Hand Front Cover
Look for color flakes, chips, tiny creases, fraying.

Stress Lines are small lines along the binding of a comic.

Bottom Left Corner
Watch for edge wear, fraying, creases and rounding.

How To Order

Comics Source is not a clearinghouse or middleman, you buy directly from each advertiser. A code at the end of each listing tells you who the advertiser is — find the address and telephone number by looking up the code in the Marketplace Advertiser Directory in the back of this issue.

To simplify the job of placing your order, we recommend these steps:

1. Make a list of all items you want to buy, arrange it by "Seller ID," then title, issue number, price, etc.
2. Use the Marketplace Advertisers Directory, in the back of this issue, to locate the address and telephone number of each seller on your list.
3. If you like, call the seller to verify that the items are still available.
4. If you place a hold on any comics, be sure to promptly send payment directly to the seller. If you don't send payment within 7 days, you may lose the item.
5. Read the Mail-Order Terms, don't forget to add the necessary shipping charge.
6. Send payment and a copy of your order to the seller with your name, address, and telephone number written clearly. Keep a copy for your records. Be sure to send your payment directly to the seller, not to Comics Source.

Remember, you contact each advertiser directly — Comics Source is not a clearinghouse. If you need help contacting an advertiser or placing your order, feel free to call.

Mail-Order Terms

These terms apply to all advertisers unless otherwise indicated. Contact each advertiser for additional terms such as discounts and credit card availability. When phoning an order, ask if there are any other non-standard terms.

PAYMENT

Include payment with your order unless prior arrangements are made. Personal checks must clear.

SHIPPING CHARGE

USPS or UPS ground is normally $5 within continental U.S. for most orders, extra charge for Canada & Overseas or overweight. Fed EX, Blue Label, etc. is an extra charge.

PLACING YOUR ORDER

Order by mail or phone. All advertisers must ship orders within 2 working days after receiving good funds. Phone orders should either be paid by credit card or placed on hold for 7 days. If not paid within 7 days items are placed back in stock. Mail orders should list alternate choices when possible, but alternates are used only in the event your first choice is sold.

PHOTOS

Most sellers can provide a photo or Xerox copy but usually request a $1 fee to cover the time and expense.

GRADING

Standard grading terms apply. Consult "Making The Grade" for more details about the different grades/conditions of comics.

DISCOUNTS

Some sellers offer a 10% courtesy discount to other dealers. This is optional. Most ask to see a letterhead, copy of business license or resale # to qualify. Inquire.

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED!

Return any item within 6 days for a prompt refund.

COMPLAINTS

If you have an unresolved problem with an advertiser, contact the publishers of this magazine. Any advertiser with three unresolved complaints will not be permitted to continue advertising.

HOW TO USE THE MARKETPLACE

The Comics Source Marketplace is such a revolutionary way of listing comics for sale that, at first, many readers don't understand how to use it. But once they see how it works, the benefits are immediately obvious. Because all comics are listed alphabetically, regardless of who the seller is, finding comics for your collection is quick and simple. No longer do you have to scan hundreds of ads with a magnifying glass (like you do in CBG).

But our format admittedly takes some getting used to, so to help you newcomers understand, we have provided the information below.

Remember, all of the items in the Marketplace are either FOR SALE or WANTED. You contact buyers or sellers directly, using their ID Code and the advertiser directory found in the back of the magazine.

We're always looking for ways to improve, so if you have any suggestions, write us at Comics Source Marketplace, Box 2512, Chattanooga, TN 37409

How To Sell Your Comics In Comics Source

1. COMPLETE the ADVERTISING FORM in the back of this issue as follows:

TITLE: Use the correct Comic Book title. Only comic book listings can be offered in the Marketplace. If the title was used by different companies indicate the year or publisher.

ISSUE #: The issue number of the comic. You cannot list more than one issue on a line.

GRADE: See our grading definitions at the beginning of the Marketplace section.

PRICE: The price you are asking.

NOTES: Details that help clarify the condition, or special notes about the comic book. Please keep these notes under 12 words total. Notes must fit in the space provided. If you cannot fit the description on the line provided you will be charged for an extra listing.

2. GRADE strictly and accurately. This is the most important of all! 99% of all mail-order problems are a result of grading disputes.
3. MAIL, PHONE, or FAX your listings to us. We must receive them by the deadline for them to appear in the next issue.
4. INCLUDE PAYMENT (we accept Mastercard, Visa or check). Advertising cost is only $1.25 per listing.

SHIPPING TIPS

1 Ship orders within two days after the check clears.

2 Get a supply of padded mailers, boxes, mailing labels, and shipping tape. These are available at your local office supply store. Package with extreme care to avoid any damage in shipment. Inform the buyer when you will ship the order, and then follow up on it.

3 Always insure your package. For U.S. Postal Service packages, use a return receipt so that someone must sign for it. Whenever possible, use UPS or Federal Express because they automatically require a signature.

4 Pack books carefully in a sturdy box or mailer. Don't cram books into a package.

5 Include your name and address on both the outside and inside of your package.

6 Don't spend the money until the buyer's return privilege expires.

7 If an item is already sold, send a refund check, not a credit form.

8 Treat your buyers the way you'd like to be treated and they will become good customers—buying again and again.

9 As a Comics Source advertiser, you must accept returns for any reason if the comic(s) is sent back in the same condition received and postmarked within six days of receipt. Send refunds promptly. If comics you sent were damaged by the carrier, refund the buyer's money immediately and file your insurance claim.

Mail-Order sales have become highly regulated by the USPS, observing these rules will avoid problems.

Protect your comics with the best, archival quality preservation sleeves and boards available and save Money!

Don't take a chance with just any sleeve or board claiming to be archival. Accelerated aging tests show that some of these materials actually break down over time and can ruin your comic books!
